

January 2, 2011

Happy New Year!!!

The truck doors have officially been opened and Flying Horse Veterinary Practice is ready to get started. It was an exciting holiday season with new stock arriving on an almost daily basis including a state-of-the-art digital ultrasound. There is still plenty to be done as the truck is arranged and re-arranged and continues its facelift to becoming a "proper" vet truck. Dr. Snedden is looking forward to meeting new faces and becoming re-acquainted with old friends. Keep an eye on the website for updates. We look forward to seeing you soon.