

November 25, 2010

Getting ready for business:

Starting the countdown until we open the "truck" doors on January 1! We will be heading to Baltimore next week for the annual equine veterinarians meeting. We plan to make the major purchases to get the practice up and running there. So much to do, so little time. See you in January.